Which decisions were made by the directors of Helderberg Ltd. in response to the state of the economy and how would the decisions impact the business in future?

Decisions:

- i. The company's infrastructure/size was possibly shrunk on purpose to help with cost saving.
- ii. The company's fixed assets were sold to get rid of the excess borrowed capital.
- iii. Shares were repurchased and the supply on the share market was decreased.
- iv. Additional investments were matured to make the funds available so that own and borrowed capital can be repaid.

Future outcome:

- v. Future profits would be affected through the saving of interest expense but also losing out on interest income and profit on capital gains.
- vi. As soon as the economy turns, the repurchased shares can be re-issued at a higher cost.
- vii. Better dividends can be paid to the remaining shareholders, which would reflect well on the markets.

	CLOVER LTD	DIAMOND LTD
Earnings per share (EPS)	194 cents	166 cents
Dividends per share (DPS)	130 cents	160 cents
Net asset value (NAV)	1 500 cents	990 cents
Market price on JSE	1 680 cents	800 cents
Total shares in issue	2 480 000	5 200 000

Mandla Moshi has R420 000 to invest on the JSE. Which one of the above-mentioned companies would you recommend?

- i. Clover Ltd has higher earnings per share; even though they only spend 130 cents per share on dividends, there would be earnings invested in retained income which would contribute to future growth.
- ii. Clover Ltd's market price (1 680 cents) is higher than the net asset value (1 500 cents), which is a sign that there is a demand on the market for the shares. Therefore, now is a good time to invest in the business.
- iii. More shares can be purchased from Clover Ltd for R420 000, and therefore better dividends would be obtained this year.
- iv. Diamond Ltd's cost per share price is low on the JSE (800 cents) in relation to the earning on 5 200 000 shares (166 cents); therefore Mandla could get more value for his money if shares were bought here.
- v. More shares can be purchased from Diamond Ltd for R420 000, and therefore better dividends would be obtained this year.
